

SMIC NEWS

The 115th general meeting of the Surveying & Mapping Industry Council of NSW was held on Friday 16 May 2008 at the RTA offices in Parramatta. The Council was very pleased to welcome back Kate Moore, representing TAFE NSW.

The Council noted progress in the nationwide proposal to extend apprenticeships to Diploma level at TAFE. Anna Henderson has been advertising the proposal to various nation-wide Apprenticeship Centres and Georgie Cane has developed a range of promotional tools. Employer incentives are to be included in this material. The information will be distributed to professional associations, the career information network and the RTO network and will be made available to upload onto industry sites. Douglas Greening, CEO of the CITAB, is ready to progress the matter in NSW as the Package has now been released on the NTIS website, and this is good news for employers in NSW.

Recent media reports indicated a proposed ban by the NSW Government on Class 3 and Class 4 laser pointers following recent attacks on aircraft. The proposed ban only applies to Class 3 or Class 4 hand held, battery operated laser pointers. Surveyors do not use any Class 3 or above hand held laser pointers- total stations and digital levels are not deemed "hand held" as they are fixed to a stable base and some hand held laser distance measuring devices are Class 2 only. The NSW Government will also be introducing an offence for possession of any hand held, battery operated laser pointer in a public place without a reasonable excuse, such as business or employment. Laser survey equipment used safely and legitimately by surveyors and other professionals in the course of their work are not the targets of this ban."

Industry and the profession are reminded to submit entries into the NSW Excellence in Surveying & Spatial Information Awards. Submissions are due by 28 July and information is available on the ISNSW and ACS websites, being www.surveyors.org.au and acsnsw.com.au respectively.
